Organic Spa Treatments

by Ani Miryala

I have read your interview in 'Face to Face' feature of SKIN INC Magazine. I was fascinated to hear that you and your sisters are managing the Company since 1982 and your company does only natural, organic paraben-free treatments. Congratulations for having 15 spas world-wide and having chemical-free products with excellent results.

I have checked your web site www.organicspatreatments.com. In that I have seen two herbal microderm treatments - one is Herbal Microderm pouch and the other one is Herbal Oatmeal Treatment. What is the difference between the two? I am very interested to know and introduce in my Spa.

– Mikal, Vitt.

Thank you. As you read, we are a leading all-women's enterprise in this field in South India.

Herbal Oatmeal Microderm Treatment can be done on any type of skin including sensitive skin, rosacea or eczema-ridden skin. The herbs used in the Treatment are abrasive, designed for use on sensitive skin as well.

Also included are some herbs that neutralize the effect of the powerful, abrasive herbs to give a soothing & relaxing treatment.

Anoo's Herbal Microderm Pouch is a little more abrasive and is good for skin tightening and reduction of lines. You can notice a significant difference by performing on one half of the face & comparing with the other half! You can take before and after treatment pictures to impress your clients. The treatment works well for men as well.

These treatments can be done weekly, monthly or even every other day and are absolutely safe.

The herbs we use are 100% organic, cultivated on farms and are proven to work by Indian Ayurvedic Science and ancient sages. All Anoo's Products are free from chemicals, preservatives and pesticides. We also have Eco-friendly Spa Disposables.
